

GREY FLAGS

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Seth Price, Press Release: Grey Flags	123	SETH PRICE
Seth Price, Dispersion	123	Seth Price, Dispersion
Unification Theory	123	Unification Theory
<hr/>
PAUL PFEIFFER	123	WALID RAAD
Paul Virno, Grammar of the Multitude, excerpt	123	Saul Anton on Walid Raad, "A Secret History," Frieze , no. 72 (Jan.–Feb. 2003), pp. 68–69	123
<hr/>
JOHN ARMLEDER	123	Walid Raad, Schema	123
John Armleder, Yellow Pages	123	<hr/>
John Armleder, Interview with Bob Nickas	123	ALLEN RUPPERSBERG
<hr/>			Allen Ruppersberg, piece from a literature magazine in Utrecht	123
LUTZ BACHER	123	Allen Ruppersberg, Tktk	123
Jackie Kennedy and Robot images	123	<hr/>
HELEN CHATWICK	123	WILHELM SASNAL
Xxxxxxxxxx	123	Wilhelm Sasnal, "Constructive Anarchy. Craig Garrett Speaks with Wilhelm Sasnal," Purple Fashion no. 4 (Fall–Winter 2005–2006)	123
<hr/>			Add for Marc Jacobs, from the March issue of Artforum	123
TACITA DEAN	123	<hr/>
Tacita Dean, "Jules Verne," from An Aside	123	KARIN SCHNEIDER
Jules Verne, The Green Ray, first editions covers	123	Karin Schneider, Sabotage	123
<hr/>			Karin Schneider, Sabotage	123
CLAUDE FONTAINE	123	<hr/>
Claude Fontaine, Dear R, November 2005	123	SHIRANA SHAHBAZI
Effervescence of Radical Situations, extract from Joy of Revolution,	123	Pages from Shirana Shahbazi's book HISTORY	123
Ken Knabb How To, extract from Tiqqun 2, Zone d'Opacité Offensive	123	Tirdad Zolghadr, Use Value. Shirana Shahbazi Comes to Teheran	123
<hr/>			<hr/>
LIAM GILLICK	123	KELLEY WALKER,
Liam Gillick, "In the Desert in a Large Bunker	123	Johanna Burton, "Subject to Revision" Artforum,
Covered in Snow," Metro (June 2004)	123	Pop after Pop issue (October 2004)	123
Giorgio Agamben, "Friendship," Contretemps, no. 5 (Dec. 2005)	123	CMYK	123
<hr/>			<hr/>
PIERO GIOLLA	123	APITCHATPONG WEERASSETHAKUL
Bruce Nauman, Interview with Lorraine Sciarra, 1972, excerpt	123	Apitchatpong Weerasethakul, Subtract	123
Piero Giolla, answering the same questions Lorraine Sciarra	123	Apitchatpong Weerasethakul, Domestic Projections, film stills	123
asked Bruce Nauman in 1972	123	<hr/>
<hr/>			MARIO YBARRA
MICHAEL KREBBER	123	"Occupying a Space in Ruins," two interviews by the artist Mario Ybarra Jr.
Michael Krebber, "Notes on the Slip Box. Richard Hawkins at the	123	and Karla Diaz with his grandmother and his father	123
Daniel Buchholz Gallery," review, Texte zur Kunst, 2004	123	<hr/>
Fritz Heubach, "Karl Valentin. Michael Krebber, Pablo Picasso"	123	ANTHONY HUBERMAN
<hr/>			Peter Fischli and David Weiss, Will Happiness Find Me? 123
JONATHAN MONK	123	<hr/>
Selections from The Last Picture Show: Sherrie Levine	123	ADDENDUM	123
"Statement," and A. D. Coleman, "I'm not Really a Photographer"	123	<hr/>
Robert Barry, "Interview Piece," Prospect '69, Düsseldorf	123	Director's Foreword	123
Sol LeWitt, "Paragraphs on Conceptual Art," Artforum (Summer 1967)	123	<hr/>
GABRIEL OROZCO	123	Bettina Funcke, Everyone Likes to Copy	123
Gabriel Orozco, notebook pages, from Gabriel Orozco:	123	<hr/>
Photography, Philadelphia Museum of Art, 1999	123

SculptureCenter
44-19 Purves Street
Long Island City, New York 11101
t 718.361.1750
f 718.786.9336
info@sculpture-center.org
www.sculpture-center.org

For Immediate Release

Release Date:
February 10, 2006

Exhibition:
Grey Flags

Exhibition Dates:
May 7 – July 30, 2006

Opening Reception:
Sunday, May 7, 4-6 pm

Gallery Hours:
Thursday – Monday, 11am-6pm

Admission:
$5 suggested donation

Media Contact:
Katie Farrell
t 718.361.1750 x111
f 718.786.9336
kfarrell@sculpture-center.org

GREY FLAGS

JOHN ARMLEDER, LUTZ BACHER, TACITA DEAN, CLAIRE FONTAINE, LIAM GILICK, PIERO GOLIA, MICHAEL KREBBER, JONATHAN MONK, GABRIEL OROZCO, THE ATLAS GROUP / WALID RAAD, ALLEN RUPPERSBERG, SETH PRICE, WILHELM SASNAL, KARIN SCHNEIDER, SHIRANA SHAHBAZI, KELLEY WALKER, APICHATPONG WEERAETHAKUL, MARIO YBARRA JR.

SculptureCenter is pleased to present Grey Flags, curated by Anthony Huberman and Paul Pfeiffer. This exhibition will be on view May 7–July 30, 2006, with an opening reception on Sunday, May 7, 4-6 pm.

When you stop talking and doing, and close your eyes, what comes to mind? Voices? Images? Feelings? Like landscape seen from a plane, these phenomena hover on a sublime verge between fascinating and boring. Well, that might be true of anything viewed from a distance: the stars, the sea, mountains, the horizon. And what of social phenomena? Same. On any forgotten record, it's in the filler songs that you find the blank, thoughtless shavings laid bare, production patterns of another day, secrets of the ornaments.

Look farther back, to a time when age 25 was referred to as "the mid-point of life", when cattle were the only capital. One senses something of the mesh of fear and regimentation and suffering and bloody sacrifice from which civilization was meant to escape. This is the coin of the realm. Consider megaliths, dolmen, tumuli—all the brooding architecture of early man. It may be that this is not properly architecture at all, but faith embodied, which is to say, magic. Magic is a process that always uses the most advanced technologies at hand. In the Stone Age that meant fire, fur, bone, and blood; in the Middle Ages, the crucible, the alembic, and the chalk circle. Today it is images, a thickening web of images, amounting to a magic circle through which the citizens of this age have passed, never to return. What a time you chose to be born!

The fact is, over the course of her history America has become more religious, not less, despite the influences of science and government. Why should this be? Perhaps because science, which may answer anything and everything, still cannot tell us why there is something rather than nothing. And while government's duty is to establish law, other than that, it—and arguably democracy itself—is a price to pay, an inefficiency, a hindrance to the market. Labor and production, those specters of the twentieth century, no longer have a thing to offer us. The question, then, is how to paint one's subjectivity in the codes of culture? But there's no such thing as culture, it won't be still for the picture, there's no "stand back, let me get a look at you!" And here lies the reason religion was invented by man: a system of photography. You have only to recall one thing, and know that there is a power that manages the rest in your stead. Do not mistake this for a throwback, a revival, or a regression; what is proposed here is every bit as modern as global capitalism and the information economy. A Utopia that stands abreast, yet apart.

Is man so perverse that he would continue to eat acorns after the discovery of grain? Like most liberals, I prefer questions to solutions. To those who decry Utopia as a futile project, or worse, one whose failures brought us the horrors of the last century, consider that we are in a Utopian moment that each moment is a golden image. Much current public sentiment is based on an outraged sense that there has been committed a horrible, criminal insult; but surely the entire bohemian twentieth century is itself the insult. Bohemianism thrives under a capitalism that aligns itself with nature; hence the well known, post-war Californian variety. But we have entered a new kind of nature, a nature composed of images. And there can be no criticism of nature; it is always taken just as it is.

Remember that most of your body lies on the inside, in utter darkness from birth to death, at least if your luck holds. It would be a death of sorts if, at some point in our future, we were to lose the idea of center and heart; if networks expanded to dissolve every community and tradition. The last day of all time would then be strangely comforting: finally, an end to all this. A calm whisper in parting: "Goodbye, Doctor", a pulsing, regular rhythm, the time-lapse image of decay turning into birth. If one could tell an unborn child that it soon would be forced to leave its only world, the child might struggle frantically against the thought: birth must be a death. But of course it is the other way around.

—Seth Price

Continued

Thanks
Grey Flags is made possible in part by Cultural Services of the Embassy of France.
SculptureCenter's exhibition program is supported by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the New York State Council on the Arts, a state agency; the Department of Cultural Affairs of the City of New York, New York City Councilman Eric Gioia, The A. Woodner Fund, the Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts, Citibank, the Jerome Foundation, JP Morgan Chase, the Ken and Judith Joy Foundation, and the Starry Night Fund of the Tides Foundation.

About SculptureCenter
Founded by artists in 1928, SculptureCenter is a not-for-profit arts institution dedicated to experimental and innovative developments in contemporary sculpture. SculptureCenter commissions new work and presents exhibits by emerging and established, national and international artists. In 2001, SculptureCenter purchased a former trolley repair shop in Long Island City, Queens. This facility, designed by artist/designer Maya Lin, includes 6,000 square feet of interior exhibition space, offices, and outdoor exhibition space.

For additional information or photographs, please contact Katie Farrell at 718 361 1750 x111 or kfarrell@sculpture-center.org.